19. Riya has started a small business producing eco-friendly cleaning products. To promote and sell her products, she hired a team of six sales representatives, each assigned to different districts in the city. Riya conducts monthly meetings where she discusses the company's goals and sets sales targets for the next month, encouraging her team to share their opinions on the targets. The sales targets are agreed upon collectively by Riya and her sales team. If the team meets the targets, they receive recognition and a special mention in the company's newsletter, along with their regular salary. This motivates the sales team to actively participate in the company's success.

In context of the above case:

1. What style of leadership is adopted by Riya?
 2. Name the type of non-financial incentive being offered to the salesman by seeking that involvement in deciding the monthly targets of the firm.
20. Planning is the essence of management. Explain.
