FOREWORD

The Commission for Scientific and Technical Terminology (CSTT) came into existence on 1st October, 1961. Since its establishment there has been exponential growth in the volume of our work, massive influx of new technical terms, manifold increase in the number of projects/programmes and tremendous change in its functional mechanism. Thus having several projects rolling on at present, the CSTT has virtually, been transformed into a hub of all terminological activities at the national level.

One of our prestigious projects is to evolve and define Scientific and Technical terms in Hindi and in other modern Indian Language and publish technical dictionaries/glossaries, definitional dictionaries and encyclopaedias. As such a massive scheme under the title 'Preparation of Trilingual Glossaries/Dictionaries' has been jointly undertaken by the Commission for Scientific and Technical Terminology and State Institute of Languages, Kerala. Trilingual glossaries are English-Hindi-other Modern Indian Language glossaries. In such a glossary, each English term has one equivalent in Hindi and one equivalent in any of the other modern Indian Languages. In Trilingual glossary endeavours, attempts are also made to transliterate the Hindi term in the concerned regional language. In this case trilingual glossaries on science subjects viz: Physics, Chemistry, Botany, Zoology, Animal Husbandry and on humanity subject viz like Media studies, Philosophy and History are prepared. The glossaries consists of a very good collection of terms in English- Malayalam-Hindi meanings/equivalents in its most appropriate form.
